

"Have A Really New Year"

knew in the now™

of course thanks for the happy new year. i'm going to patent my 2006 holiday greeting and trademark its expression:

"Have A Really New Year"

a google for which finds nothing ! because I have coined it! and i have hopes for it. my pre-internet catch phrase "stop blowing shit up my ass" , a euphemistic plea for honesty (i.e.: "stop pulling my leg, seriously") yields a similar zero. ~Though do knowte it entreded the vernacular in certain Illinois towns for a brief spell and I take full credit.~ But I think the world is ready for both the message and the magic of my beautiful

"Have A Really New Year"

which will be on buses and benches and bugles the next first if all goes as planned.

thanks again. happy new year too.

